Note: A panel of professionals and collectors jury the artists. This jury process is not a critique, nor will artists receive criticism about why they were not juried in. Applications are juried every 10 collected or every 6 months, whichever comes first. In the event that all studios are filled, applicants will be placed on a wait list. If you are rejected, you will be able to apply again in 6 months.

Lowe Mill ARTS & Entertainment hopes that the artists here will be a valuable artistic resource to the community and requires that its tenants be professionals in their fields, no matter where they are in their career: emerging or established. Artists at the mill are to maintain 15 open studio hours for the public to enter, observe the creative process, ask questions, and purchase original artwork. There are also requirements that ask that each artist give 3 hours toward community work at the mill.

We require a $35 non-refundable application/jury fee. Check payable to Lowe Mill ARTS & Entertainment.

Applications can be turned in to the office by the elevator inside Door 13, or emailed to marciafreeland@lowemill.art.
